Kalukalu

ABOUT THIS PROPERTY:

The Kona Historical Society offers a beautiful pasture setting for any special event. Our Kalukalu site is located at a cool elevation (1500 ft.) and includes an ocean view, native plant forest, majestic monkeypod and magnolia trees, an authentic Portuguese stone oven, stone ruins, and the historic H.N. Greenwell Store Museum that dates from 1870. The pasture and old trees, the stone structures, and the view of the ocean beyond, provide a beautiful venue for ceremonies and photographs. Your guests will enjoy the tranquility of an authentic ranch setting, rural in nature, yet conveniently located.

Arrangements may be made in advance for a special Portuguese stone oven bread baking, or for tours inside the historic H.N. Greenwell Store.
